

TECHSTONE

LIQUID GRANITE

Liquid Granite Coating is a water-based multi-color granite coating solution. Emulates an actual granite stone at a fraction of the cost and time required of real stone products, which gives designers great flexibility in creating designs that can adapt to the building concept. This coating is great for both interior and exterior use. It can apply to different substrates with a specialized primer. It is a thick weather-shield with inorganic stone materials combined with a high-technology water resin that is an excellent alternative for natural granite.
